TEACHER THROG ARRIVING TODAY FOR CONVENTION

Prominent Educators From Many States Listed To Be On Program.

TONIGHT IS OPENING

Address of Harry Clark To Be Leader During First
Session of Meeting.

Early arrivals, heralding the coming of between 500 and 750 teachers expected here for the annual convention of the East Central Oklahoma Educational Association, made their appearance in Ada this morning. Nightfall will see hundreds swarming in on all trains.

Rooms and other accommodations for 400 had been secured at 11 o'clock this morning and quarters for at least a hundred more were understood to be in prospect. Emergency accommodations are available in case the number of visitors runs over the 500 mark, officials preparing for the convention were certain.

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy during the Wilson administration and principal speaker for the convention, is scheduled to arrive here Friday and will appear on the program Friday night in his address "Forts of Folly." He will also speak at the dedication of the East Central Memorial Gateway, at the entrance to the Normal campus, Saturday morning. The address at this time will be along patriotic lines, doing homage to the men of East Central and other normal schools and colleges who placed their services at the government's disposal during the dark hours of the World War.

Opening Tonight.
One of the principal events on tonight's program in the Normal auditorium as the convention opens, will be the address of Dr. Harry Clark, educational secretary of the Tennessee Baptist Convention. His subject will be "Leading the Life Abundant." Dr. Clark for many years has been recognized as one of the great educators of the country and his message is said to have a special import for teachers. During his stay here he will also speak on "Try Smiling."

Other speakers from outside of the state to be here for the meet include Supt. J. M. Gwinn, whose lectures "How Progress is Made in Education" and "Why Pupils Leave School" will be strictly professional. This will be Friday evening. Mr. Gwinn is superintendent of public schools at New Orleans, La. W. E. Halbrook, of Little Rock, Ark., will appear on the program Saturday during the county superintendent's session. He will speak on "Training Rural Boys and Girls for Community Activities" and "The Big Job of the County Superintendent."

The complete meet program follows:

SENATE COMMITTEE IS FAVORABLE TO EXTENSION

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The senate finance committee resuming hearings today on the tariff question ordered a favorable report on the house resolution extending the emergency tariff law to February 1, or until such time as the permanent tariff schedules are enacted into law.

Chickasha.—Charged with violating the national prohibition act Mrs. Ella Daniel, widow and mother of two children, has made $500 bond for appearance in the U. S. commissioner's court here for preliminary hearing on November 5.

HONORABLE DISCHARGE SAVES NEGRO'S LIFE

ENID, Nov. 3.—An honorable discharge from the United States army was believed by police to have saved Eddie Warren, negro, from possible violence at the hands of a party of men who, according to police reports, last night took him to a spot several miles from the city apparently with the intent of inflicting some punishment on him.

Police, however, were unable today to account for any hostile action against him.

LARNER DENIES HANGING OF 21 YANK SOLDIERS

(By the Associated Press.)
CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—Capt. W. M. Lerner, quartermaster corps, Ft. Thomas, Kentucky, who was camp quartermaster at Greves, France, and directed the erection of a scaffold mentioned by Senator Thomas E. Watson, democrat, Georgia, who told members of the United States senate that 21 soldiers were "hanged like dogs" from gallows, in a statement published today denied Senator Watson's claims, adding that but one man had been executed at Greves during the entire war and then after a regularly constituted court martial.

"SOLDIERS SHOT WITHOUT TRIAL"

Sen. Watson Hurls Bitter Message At An Alleged War Brutality.

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Letters and telegrams from persons offering to submit proof of charges that American soldiers overseas were hanged without trial were presented the senate today by Senator Watson, democrat, Georgia, whose presentation of the original charges in the senate several days ago resulted in an appointment of a special committee of investigators.

One of the telegrams, Senator Watson said, was from a major in the army and said he could "assist in substantiating the charges." Another from a resident of Philadelphia offered to give two photographs similar to that presented recently by Senator Watson, as showing a gallows.

The Philadelphian, whose name was not made public by the Georgia senator, said he saw a hanging on the Meuse of a negro in uniform, and could supply "positive proof" of the hanging. The correspondent did not say whether the hanging was after a court martial or not.

In presenting his documents, Senator Watson, with much showing of feeling, clashed with several senators and was reminded by Vice President Coolidge that he should proceed "in order" and observe the rules.

The Georgia senator again attacked Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, who first called the senate's attention to Watson's charges.

"It is only a few hours," said Mrs. Watson, "since I was put on the rack in a most brutal, superficial manner as an associate of William Barnes, a crook."

Senator Wadsworth did not reply. Mr. Watson said that a former soldier was enroute here to furnish proof of hanging charges and that he might appoint him as his secretary so that he might stand by his side in the chamber to aid in giving proof.

Telegrams are Read.
Senator Watson then had a senate clerk to read a number of letters, telegrams and newspaper clippings, into the record all referring to alleged threats to, or mistreatment of American soldiers.

The Georgia senator referred to his data as "evidence of confirmation." "I would be glad to disbelieve these charges," said Mr. Watson. "If proof is submitted that they are not true, I would be glad to know they are not true."

He then added: "I can show, and I will show, that officers had men shot with no trial whatever. I can show and I will show that officers told court martials what to do in order that the court martial might keep from being shot themselves."

Facing the republicans and showing out his chin, Senator Watson said:

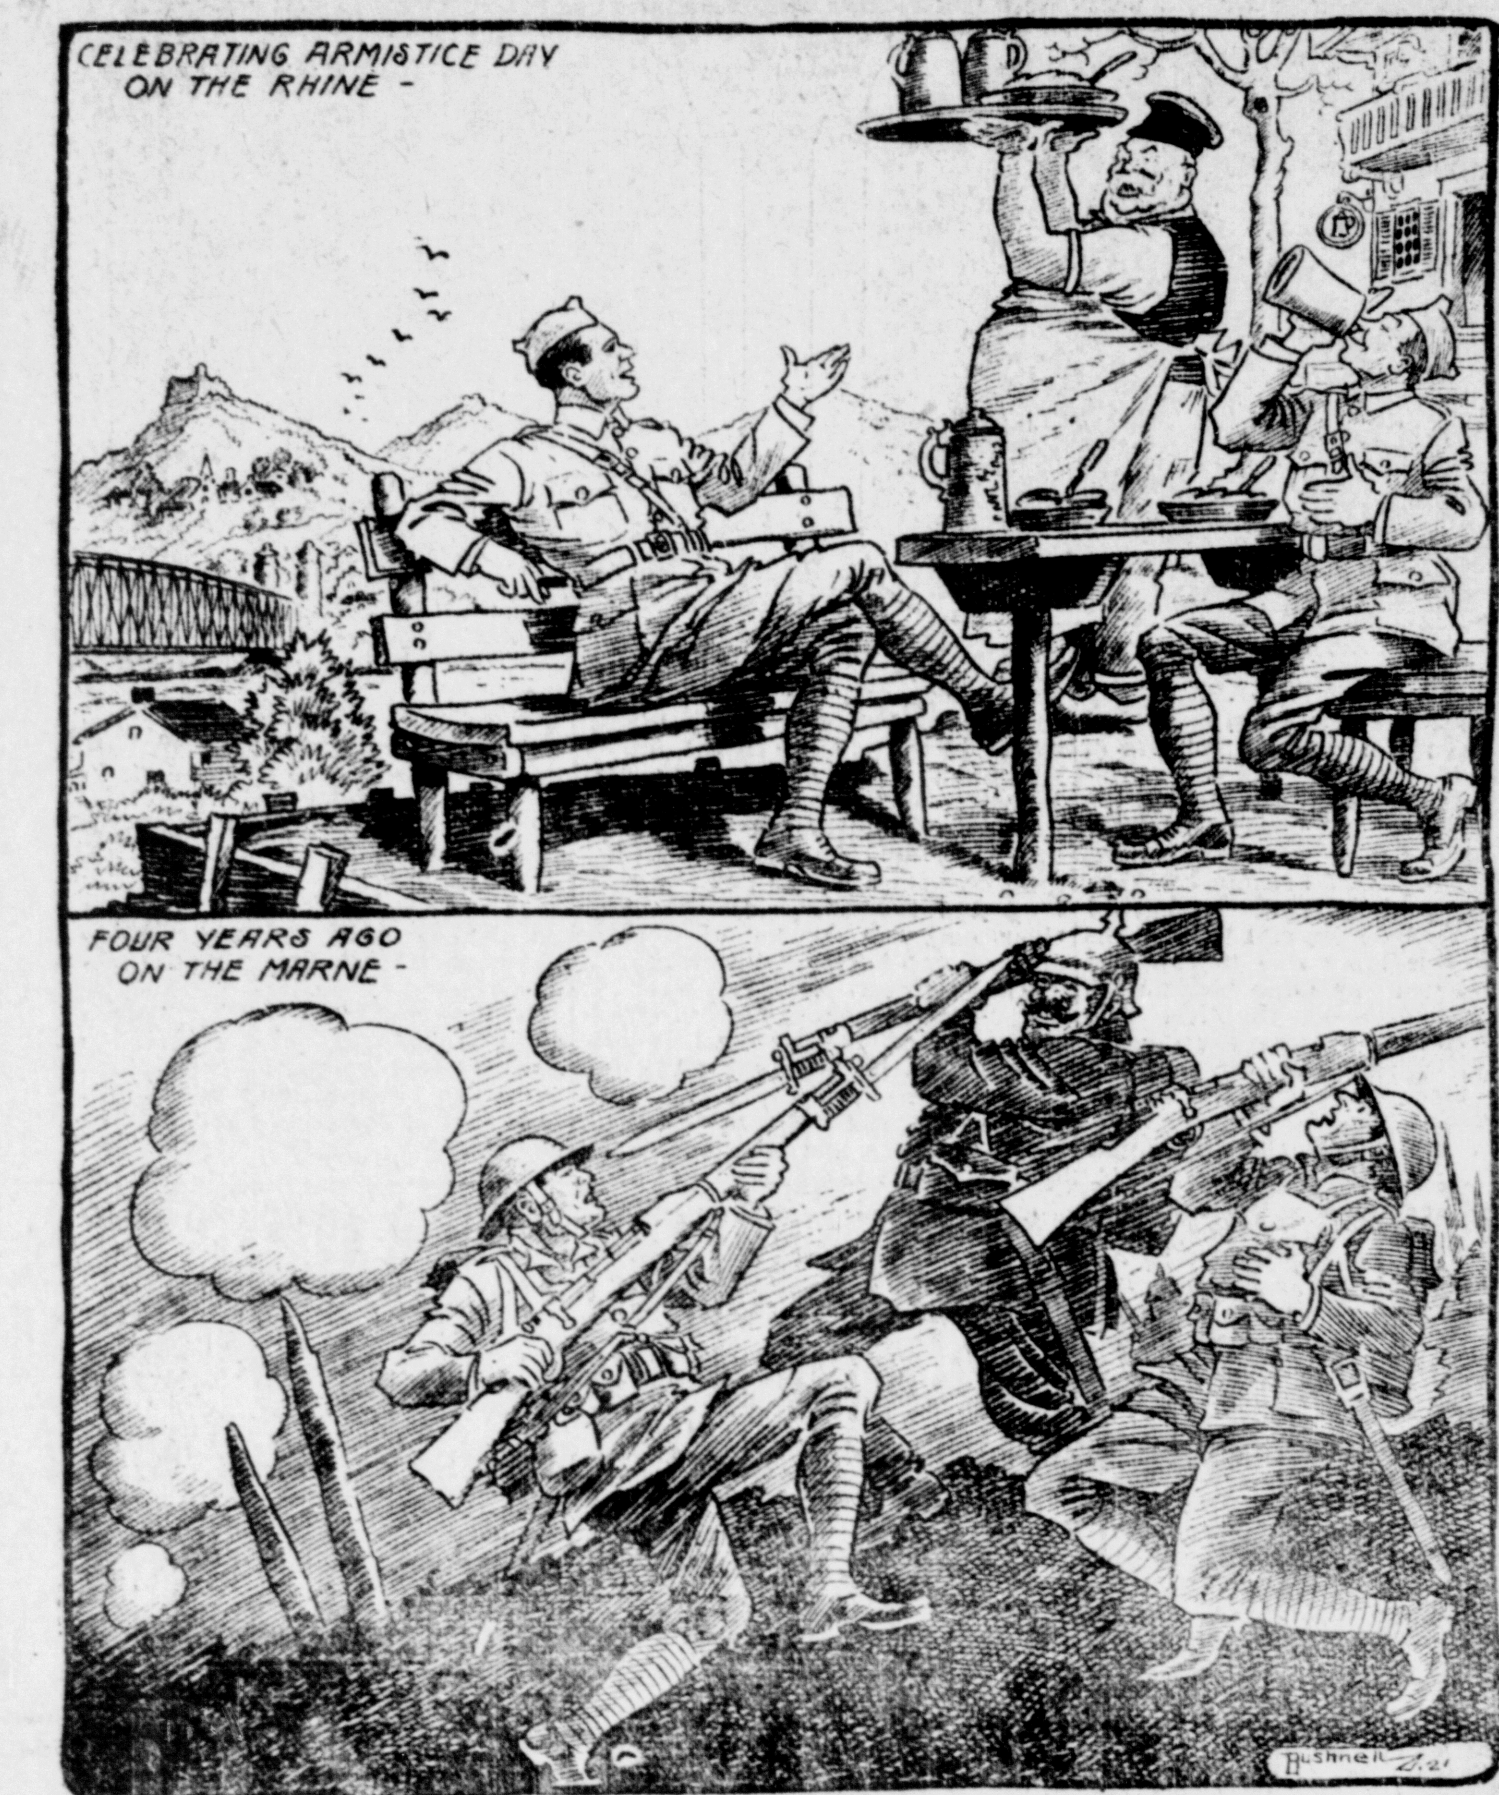

Defines Enemies.
"Make a fight on me, if you can and if you dare. You said you'd put my head against the wall. Come on, do it."

Senator Watson said that 3,000,000 privates of the war were "enlisted" on his side and that negroes, seeing the photograph he presented, would resent it.

"Hereafter the men who impugn my honor," said Mr. Watson, as he concluded his address, "will not be answerable to me here only but somewhere else."

The discussion closed for the time at least when Senator Edge reiterated the hope that Senator Watson would present evidence of his charges.

ARMISTICE DAY RETROSPECT

FOCH WELCOMED ON ARRIVAL AT ST. LOUIS STOP

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—Marshal Foch, accompanied by General Pershing, arrived here today from Kansas City for an all day visit and was given a rousing reception. The special train carrying the generalissimo's party arrived at 7:45 a. m. and at 8:35 the commander-in-chief of the allied armies alighted and commented on the "beautiful weather and the hospitality of St. Louis."

The party immediately was taken to the St. Louis club for breakfast where Mayor Keel extended the city's official welcome.

Marshal Foch responded briefly in French, expressing appreciation of his reception and praised the part St. Louis played in the war.

SLASH IN DISCOUNT RATES IS ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Reductions in the discount rates of the Dallas reserve bank from six per cent to five and one-half per cent, was announced today by the federal reserve board.

The reduction, it was said, was in line with the lowering of the rates in eight other districts which was announced yesterday. It was explained that the Boston bank, where rates is now five per cent, will follow shortly with a reduction.

ESTIMATED EXPENSE OF GOVERNMENT $3,940,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Estimated expenditure of the government for the fiscal year 1922, are now being placed at $3,940,000,000, a reduction of $94,000,000 from the estimates August 10. President Harding has informed congress in a letter to Speaker Gillette.

CHILD IS KILLED WHEN SHOTGUN IS FIRED INTO BODY

THE preliminary hearings of three Indians, Dave Homer, Dawes and Mack King, charged with the poisoning of Spence Parks, of near Stratford, last summer was continued this morning because of an accident in which the seven year old son of Mrs. Spence Parks lost his life. The child was killed almost instantly when a playmate accidentally discharged a shotgun into his body. Further details of the accident could not be learned here this afternoon.

Another circumstance which figured in the continuance was the fact that the preliminary of five persons on a bank robber charge was being held in the district court room, occupying the attention of the county attorney and his assistants. Hearing for the three Indians was set for next Monday before Justice of the Peace H. J. Brown.

SEVEN MINE UNIONS TO RETURN TO WORK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Seven California oil workers unions who have been on strike for several weeks, voted practically unanimously to accept the recommendations of their district council for returning to work. Secretary of Labor Davis was informed today in a telegram from W. J. Yarrow, president of the council.

GOVERNMENT EXPENSES FOR LAST YEAR MORE THAN THREE BILLIONS

(By the Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The high cost of government was specified as a hindrance to the return of normal business conditions by Joseph H. Deftrees, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, speaking today before the meeting of the American Paper and Pulp association.

Deftrees called attention to the fact that appropriations for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1921, totalled more than three and three-quarters billion dollars.

"These figures before the war would have been inconceivable," he said. "Much is being done and much more may be reasonably expected to be done as affecting subsequent years by the forceful efforts of General Dawes and his associates now specializing to estimate the waste and duplication of effort, and to induce the application of sound business methods. The major weight of this burden, comes from the cost of previous wars and preparation for possible future wars. The percentages of the application of these appropriations of billions of dollars for a single year were published in a recent number of the Army and Navy Journal and are most interesting as well as shocking."

Obligations arising from world war, 52.2 percent. Postal service, 11 percent. Navy department, 9.4 percent. War department, 8.8 percent. Primary functions of government, 7.0 percent. Public works, 4.7 percent. Primary functions of government, 3.9 percent. Miscellaneous, 2.5 percent.

In short 77 1-2 percent for war purposes and 22 1-2 percent for all other purposes.

"The world has come to appreciate that it is impossible for the competition in armament to continue and I believe much may be expected from the conference of the powers which our president has called to meet this month in Washington."

"But the taxes to be paid to meet the present burden must still remain with us," Mr. Deftrees then argued against the excess profits tax and told of the delay in congress on the tax bill.

He concluded: "Perhaps the most important thing to be said about the tax bill at present is that it shall be passed. The best possible tax law is desirable but even one which leaves much to be desired is better than to continue longer in uncertainty and without guide in this important matter."

POLTRY SHOWS TO BE HELD IN RURAL SCHOOLS

(By the Associated Press.)

MUSKOGEE, Nov. 3.—As an incentive for greater production of eggs in Muskogee county, the Muskogee County Poultry association, with the co-operation of County Agent John M. White, will hold more than 100 poultry shows in rural school houses next month. The shows all will be held on the same date.

Muskogee county has approximately 130,000 hens with an average production of 60 eggs each per year with a valuation of $200,000, according to Mr. White. Despite this production the county is required to import approximately $150,000 worth of eggs each year, the county agent says.

Mr. White has decided to launch a campaign for greater poultry flocks and to increase the production per hen six eggs a year. The added production, he says, will make it unnecessary for Muskogee county to import eggs.

PUBLISHER DEAD AFTER YEARS OF ACTIVE FINANCE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—Dan R. Hanna, publisher of the Cleveland News and Sunday Leader and one of Cleveland's foremost business men, died of heart disease at his home, the Croft Ossining, New York early today, according to advices received here.

In addition to his newspaper interests, Mr. Hanna was heavily interested in real estate, owning two of Cleveland's largest office buildings and for many years was a leading figure in iron ore, coal and lake shipping industry. Mr. Hanna was well known in political circles as a strong supporter of Theodore Roosevelt.

Government Expenses for Last Year More Than Three Billions.

PRETTY WIFE OF CONFESSION MAN REVEALS STORY

State Scores Victory Today In Fitzhugh Bank Case Preliminary.

"FATHER TOLD ME TO"

Defense Puts Up Brilliant Fight for Five Others Now Charged.

Claude Castleberry, Ed Stewart and Charles Thompson were bound over to the district court under $15,000 bond each, and Mrs. Ed Stewart and Mrs. Claude Castleberry under $1,000 bond each at the conclusion at noon Thursday of a preliminary hearing in which all were charged with being connected with the robbery of the Farmers State Bank at Fitzhugh on September 30.

The two women promptly made bond, but the men had not done so, until afternoon. Charges against Mrs. Arthur Gotcher, also named in the amended complaint, were dismissed when she consented to give testimony for the state. Justice of the Peace W. H. Fisher set bond for the three men but bail for the women was set by agreement of the defense and prosecution.

Consternation was thrown into the ranks of the defense early today in the preliminary of five persons being tried for the robbery of the Farmers State bank of Fitzhugh on Sept. 30, when Mrs. Fern Gotcher, wife of Arthur Gotcher, who has confessed participating in the robbery, suddenly turned state's evidence and threw the weight of her testimony into the balances for the prosecution.

When court adjourned late Wednesday, Mrs. Gotcher was arrayed with witnesses for the defense. A wave of surprise swept over the crowded court room when the state called her as its first witness Thursday morning. Mrs. Gotcher spoke deliberately in response to questions put by the prosecution and remained calm when she was stormed by cross examination from the defense counsel.

"Did the prosecution promise you any immunity?" she was asked after completing the story of what she knew of the alleged robbery.

"The law, not the prosecutors, did," she answered quietly. Assistant Prosecutor Robert Wimbin then volunteered the information that he had been in conference with Mrs. Gotcher and that she had promised to transfer sides in the case. County Attorney Wayne Wadlington, leading in the prosecution, also said he had talked to the witness about changing.

"My father has been trying to get me to do it all along," Fern Gotcher said.

Thompson Back In

Before testimony in the case got under way today, R. C. Rotand, representing Charley Thompson in the case, withdrew his motion made yesterday for a change of venue, also his motion waving preliminary, and was allowed to bring Thompson in again as one of the defendants in the case. All the testimony given Thursday will apply in his case.

Mrs. Gotcher said she lived at Vanoss until September 30, the day on which the Fitzhugh bank was robbed. On the night before the robbery, she said, she and her husband spent the night in Asher at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Castleberry. The next day they came to Vanoss in Castleberry's "yellow-wheel" Buick which figured so prominently in the testimony given by other state witnesses Wednesday. She said she saw a man who was introduced to her as "Mr. Thomas" in the car at Vanoss about 12 o'clock on Friday, September 30. The party, consisting of the Gotchers and Castleberrys and "Mr. Thomas," left Vanoss for a ride. Thomas, she said, wore a heavy beard. A short distance out of Vanoss the car stopped and all got out. Arthur and "Thomas," whom the state is attempting to prove is Charles Thompson, got back into the car and left. They were gone about 40 minutes and upon their return, all got back into the car and returned to Vanoss. The men said nothing about where they had been, she declared, and she did not know that anything had been done until they reached Vanoss.

MRS. GOTCHER ABANDONS DEFENSE

At the home of Mrs. Perry in Vanoss the car stopped and the two women went in. Then they returned to the car and found Castleberry and Gotcher, who had not gotten out, and they went on toward Asher. Along the road they met a big car which passed them a short way and stopped. Their own car stopped also. Fern Gotcher said there was a man and a woman in the other car but refused to identify them positively as Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stewart.

Arthur Gotcher got out of the first car and the man got out of the other machine. The two went behind both cars and held a short conference. Then the first car drove on and the bigger one turned and followed it a mile, then suddenly disappeared.

When they had reached a spot along the road north of the Jim Gaar place, Arthur got out of the car and left the road for a short time. That was near Chism.

The prosecution introduced three rings which Fern Gotcher identified as the ones that "one of the boys" took out of the top of the Buick car. She gave them to officers after the party had been arrested, she said. At several points in her testimony, Mrs. Gotcher stopped her straight-forward story as though doubtful as to how far she should go in clearing herself, not to involve others definitely.

J. V. Blanton, proprietor of the store at Lightning Ridge, told of seeing a Buick touring car with yellow wheels pass there on the afternoon of Friday, September 30, going south, between noon and 1 o'clock. There were five persons in the car, he said. Three men and two women. The car came back by the store that same afternoon from the east between 2 and 3 o'clock. The store is seven miles from Fitzhugh. When it came back the second time it went north and the same five persons were in it.

Mrs. Mintie Wilbanks, who lives on a farm 12 miles west of Ada, was introduced by the state as a minor witness. She said she lived on a place that lies next to the road running north and south past the Jim Gaar place. A big car came past her house on the afternoon of September 30. It contained a man and a woman.

With the introduction of Maurice Wilbanks, the prosecution began for the first time to establish what it declared to be a connection between previous testimony and that leading up to the arrest of the three men and their wives.

Stewarts Identified. Wilbanks said he was in the field picking cotton and saw a Nash car come from toward Ada and turned south on the road leading to Vanoss. That was about two and a half miles from Vanoss. A man and a woman, whom he identified as Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stewart, were in it. In a short time he saw the same car going north at the same road intersection. There was another car in front of it which contained about four passengers, two of whom were men. This machine was a Buick and went on north out of sight. Later, he said, he saw the same Nash car on the streets of Ada. A woman was driving it when he last saw it on the road, he declared.

Later witnesses for the state said it was upon information furnished them by Wilbanks that they traced the Buick car to Asher and arrested Arthur Gotcher, Claude Castleberry, and their wives.

Fred Duncan, a farmer who lives southeast of Maxwell, said he was on the Ada-Maxwell highway on the afternoon of the alleged robbery. A big car containing several persons went around his wagon, he said, and disappeared over a small hill. Later, on getting over the hill, he saw what he supposed to be the same car standing still in the road. When he had gotten within 100 yards of it, the machine moved on. After hearing of the robbery, he went back the next morning to the spot where the big car had stopped and noticed a man's tracks leading west from the road. He with other farmers followed these and between 30 and 50 yards from the road found a blue shirt and brown hat.

Shirt and Hat Produced. The shirt and hat were produced by the prosecution and labeled as exhibits. They are alleged to be the garments that one of the men charged with the robbery discarded by the roadside in an attempt to conceal his identity.

This was along the road about a mile north and a mile west of the Galey schoolhouse near Chism. Martin Burk, a farmer who was with Duncan both times, substantiated his testimony. C. O. Burk, brother of Marion Burk, identified the shirt and hat as the one he had picked up and taken to his home when the three farmers found them by the roadside.

Lee West, city marshal at Roff, was present shortly after the four were arrested. He found on searching the Buick he said nothing but what Mrs. Arthur Gotcher had told him there were three rings in the car and later located them for him.

J. C. Jackson of Stratford, deputy sheriff of Garvin county, arrested Castleberry and Gotcher with their wives at Asher where, he said, he had traced them upon information given him by Maurice Wilbanks. Upon arresting the two men, he asked Castleberry, who appeared to be drunk, where they had been.

"Just Out Drinking." "Out drinking and raising h—," Castleberry is said to have answered. Both men denied having any knowledge of the robbery at that time. He found some cartridges on Gotcher and two revolvers in the yellow-wheeled Buick.

Dave Hyden, another Stratford officer, was the last put on by the state Wednesday. He repeated much of Jackson's testimony and said the women refused to talk when they were arrested. Castleberry explained that they had been about a mile south of Vanoss.

Mr. Owens, who lives near Vanoss, saw several of the parties shortly after noon the day of the robbery. Gotcher and Thompson drove east in a car with yellow wheels. He did not notice where the other car and its occupants went.

Miss Neva Hart, an employee of the bank, identified three rings and a knife and chain as having been in the bank at the time of the robbery and which were said to have been taken away at the time.

Lee West told of finding the rings in one of the cars said to have been driven by some of the defendants. C. F. Phillips of Asher said Stewart was at his garage the day before the robbery to have some work done on a tire. It was on a Nash touring car. He saw Stewart and Castleberry talking.

Castleberry's Talk. Sheriff Duncan testified that a meeting was arranged for an took place in the county attorney's office at which Claude Castleberry and wife made voluntary statements of the affair. The matter of the bank robbery was discussed. Stewart said he was too well known at Fitzhugh to go there. Gotcher took Castleberry's car and made him get out they said. After Gotcher and Thompson returned from Fitzhugh the money was divided. Gotcher did not want a part of it and buried his share in the leaves at the spot near Vanoss where they met. His part in the affair was involuntary, they declared.

Jess Emery told of selling tires to Stewart late in the afternoon of the day of the robbery. Stewart, he thought paid him $90 and Mrs. Stewart $10.

G. H. Klotz testified to trading cars with Stewart before the robbery. Stewart making notes for the difference. The car he sold Stewart was a Nash touring car.

Handbags of Long Ago. The ancient handbags which must nearly approach those affected by the women of today were carried by the Byzantine ladies of Constantinople, under the eastern emperors. This was a period of great commerce with the Asiatic races, who found a ready market in this luxurious court for the rich brocades of Persia and India and the embroidered silks of China, which were utilized in schemes of dress more costly and extravagant than the world has seen before or since.

Possible to Train Crows. The search for food is the crow's chief business, although his love for glittering things causes him to wander from his ordered road when attracted by the gleam of some object at a distance. If this object of his curiosity can be transported, he takes it. The crow is easily tamed, but the process demands patience. Many crows talk as distinctly as parrots. Pliny the Elder notes a case where a crow alighted in the forum and saluted Emperor Tiberius and his two sons, "calling them by name."

Clear Night in Scotland. On a cloudless night one can sit by the shores of the Moray firth and read a newspaper at midnight, and golf, tennis and bowls have all been played while England slept. Cattle can be seen steadily grazing through the clear nights. The birds, too, appear to be a little puzzled by the unusually bright conditions. Their twittering never ceases, and occasionally one will break into song that another will answer.—Exchange.

Sheep With Many Horns. In their wild state all sheep were furnished with a pair of horns, but the number never exceeded two until some curious specimens were discovered in several isolated sections of Asia. These species had from four to six horns, the upper set being graduated with the smallest ones just above the eyes. Curiously enough, the two lower sets always curve upward, while the large pair curl downward.

Special Attention. "I am a great believer in specialists," said Ethel. "When I have trouble with my nose I go to a nose specialist, and when I have trouble with my heart I go to an expert on hearts." "Them's my ideas," said old Lady Gunbusta. "And that's why when my nephew, Jimmie, had his tonsils cut out I took him to a regular tonsorial artist."

Origin of Gas. There are a thousand uses for gas today, both in the home and factory, and yet only a comparatively short time ago the level-headed Scotchman, Sir Walter Scott, was scoffing at a "madman in London who was trying to make a light without a wick," and people, thinking the gas pipes were filled with fire, approached them with fear.

Varro's Aviary. Varro, author of a famous book on agriculture, lived in the Ciceronian age. He built a model aviary, with fish ponds, and duck houses enclosed by fine gut nettings. Similar netted spaces housed blackbirds, nightingales and other song birds. A little channel furnished fresh water, and food was introduced beneath the nets.—Scientific American.

All Gold Hoarded in East. It is estimated that at least $10,000,000 in gold is hoarded every year by the native population in India, Africa and Persia, for whom gold has a wonderful fascination. Any gold that comes into their hands as wages, or in any other way, is immediately hidden away.

BOYS AND GIRLS ON FARM BEGIN WITH CALE, END WITH HERD

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK.—Why do boys leave the farm? Here's the reason in a nutshell and also in rhyme: "I left my dad, his farm, his plow," replied the youth who went to the big city to seek his fortune, "because my calf became his cow. I left my dad, 'twas wrong, of course, because my colt became his horse. I left my dad to sow and reap because my lamb became his sheep. I dropped the hoe and stuck the fork because my pig became that I made grow was his to sell and mine to hoe." Boys' and Girls' clubs throughout Canada and the United States have made this answer no longer true. In every state in the American union and in every province in Canada, boys and girls of the farms, now organized into clubs, own their own farm animals. Beginning with a pig or lamb or calf, they find themselves on attaining their majority owners of a bank account and herds of livestock. The interest in farm work is stimulated by annual fairs at which prizes are offered for the best animals grown by boys and girls, for poultry, garden vegetables, seed grains, canned fruits, cookery, dairy products and livestock judging. Boys' and Girls' clubs are nowhere more numerous and of greater constructive influence than in the rich mixed farming belt along the transcontinental railway. This country of rolling hills, an ideal farming region and developing rapidly under heavy settlement. Throughout this fertile section Boys' and Girls' clubs are active and livestock owned by the youngsters has become a not inconsiderable part of the farm wealth of the region.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 3.—When Peter Manning and Arion Guy established new world speed records during the fall trotting season held here recently thousands of spectators took the performances as a matter of course while breeding specialists and close followers of the sport went home to scan pedigrees and statistics to discover if possible the origin of the unusual speed displayed by the two animals.

A study of pedigrees made by Prof. W. S. Anderson, an authority on horse breeding and a member of the animal husbandry department of the Kentucky college of agriculture, shows that the two animals derived their ability for speed from Axworthy, a sire who was not exceptionally fast himself but one who is noted for the speed of his get and that of his sons. He has a record of 2:15 1-2. Studies made by Prof. Anderson show that Peter Manning who set a new world's record for the mile by reducing the time from $1:58 to 1:57 2-4 could not have obtained his speed from his mother, Glendora G., 3, who has a track record of 2:25 3-4 nor from her sire Emmett Gratton, who had a record of 8:28.

"On the other hand one would not pick the sire of Peter Manning, Azoff, who has a record of 2:14 1-4 for a mile, to produce the greatest speed of any sire or brood but it must be conceded that the champion's speed came to him from his sire since he could not have obtained it from his dam," Prof. Anderson said.

Carmack's Tribute. The following beautiful tribute to the South and her people was delivered by Hon. E. W. Carmack in one of his speeches in the United States senate:

"These people, sir, are of high and noble lineage. The blood of the heroes who fought at King's Mountain and New Orleans is in their veins. They are the sons of the sires who blazed the pathway of civilization through primeval forests of America and built a temple of liberty in the wilderness of this western world. In whatever sphere of duty it has pleased God to place them, whether in the quiet walks of peaceful citizenship, or in the highest station of civic power and duty or amid the storms of death on the red field of battle, they have everywhere exhibited those high qualities of American manhood that have made glorious the history of this republic. I speak for my native state, for my native South, a land that has known sorrows; a land that has broken through the ashen crust and moistened it with its tears; a land scarred and riven by the plowshares of war and blighted with the graves of her dead; but a land of learned, a land of song, a land of hallowed and heroic memories. To that land every drop of my blood, every fiber of my being every pulsation of my heart is consecrated forever. I was born in her womb, I was nurtured at her breast, and when my last hour shall come, I pray God that I may be pillowed in her tender and encircling arms."

FARMERS TURN FROM SINGLE MONEY CROP

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—The farm policy of the entire state gradually is changing as a result of the poor cotton crop and some cases complete failure, this year, according to reports reaching the office of John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture.

In forty-seven of the seventy-seven counties of the state, new policies for farming have been announced, although many of the counties changing had no cotton acreage this year. The reason for the change, Mr. Whitehurst says is that farmers are beginning to realize that what happened to the man who pinned all his faith to cotton is liable to happen to anyone who plants only one "money" crop.

Diversification of crops is to be the salvation of agricultural Oklahoma, Mr. Whitehurst believes, and steps are being taken in three counties to bring about these changes in farming life.

In some counties dairy cattle and stock cattle are being raised extensively this year, where last year many farmers went without even one milk cow, it was explained. This new farming industry has been given impetus by the recently granted livestock loans to farmers, the loans to be handled through local banks.

For those counties which have cotton farming as their principal industry the board is advocating a policy which embraces less acreage, extensive farming of the acreage planted, continual cultivation of the crop, the burning off of areas infected this year by the boll weevil and the rotation of crops wherever practical.

In advisability of late preparation of soil has been demonstrated too often, the bulletin stated. "Early preparation of soil and seed bed is essential under any circumstances, but under boll weevil conditions it is absolutely necessary in order to insure a crop the coming season," the bulletin states.

In carrying out the department's idea that more than one product which will support the farm should be raised, paragraph is inserted in the bulletin which says, "No farmer can afford to invest his time and money in trying to produce a crop of cotton until he has provided himself with a cow to furnish milk and butter for the family, hogs to make his own meat, a few chickens, vegetables and fruit wherever possible and poultry or feed crops to sustain livestock for an entire year. Then in case the weevil returns, the effects will not be so severely felt."

ODD FELLOWS URGED TO HELP SEAL DRIVE.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—(Special)—Letters to every Odd Fellow lodge in the state of Oklahoma will be mailed out this month by R. U. Livesay, Grand Master of the order in Oklahoma urging the co-operation of the 70,000 Odd Fellows in the state in the health campaign and in the 1921 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale, according to a letter received yesterday by the Oklahoma Public Health association from Livesay.

Livesay's action follows the recommendation of Governor J. B. A. Robertson, former grand master, that the order co-operate in the better health movement. Livesay himself is a chairman of the Caddo County Public Health committee, having been a special delegate from Anadarko to the State Public Health conference last month. The governor is a director of the Oklahoma Public Health association and was a speaker at the conference.

The Odd Fellows are the third fraternal order of the state to take action to stimulate the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals, the Masons and Knights of Columbus having already urged co-operation of their local lodges. The seal sale which opens December 1 is to provide funds for the war on disease in Oklahoma.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

REWARD OF HUMILITY:—Whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.—Luke 14:11. But in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others.—Philippians 2: 3, 4.

THE AMERICAN LEGION.

Those who thought the American Legion as an organization would have little effect upon the political and economic life of our nation can now see the error of their judgment. The former service men met in Kansas City not by the hundreds but by the thousands. They came from all states and territorial possession.

The organization, as we see it, stands for what is best in America life. The members know what they want and how to get it. They know who the enemies of a democrat government are any say so.

The American Legion means much to America and the world. We hope to see a special building for the local post before a great while.

Again the little Welshman has been vindicated by the House of Commons and be is given a free hand to proceed with the Irish settlement. This is as it should be. Lloyd George is the only British statesman to show a real understanding of the Irish problem, so far as we are able to determine. While there are many things to be worked out, it appears now that he will actually settle the Irish stew. It would have been a crime to have stopped his work when but half or not half finished. Another thing is evident. Either Lloyd George is the most wonderful politician in modern times, or he is one of the greatest statesmen in all English history.

Cuba, to all practical purposes, is a part of the United States. Then why should we levy high tariff duties on Cuban products and kill the trade that has been built up through years of effort? The republicans probably contend that the planters of Louisiana need protection, but not enough sugar is produced in Louisiana to sweeten the coffee and in American consumption is a mere sop in the bucket. We are in favor of admitting all Cuban products free. The Lord knows the island is not big enough to produce enough to interfere with American production or manufacture.

It is claimed that the emergency tariff act, passed by the republican congress and signed by a republican president, will increase the duty on Cuban sugar coming into this country by 60 percent. Inasmuch as the importers are given to meekly taking on their shoulders all additional expense, we presume sugar will remain at the same low price. "Like a fish."

With the contractor preparing to begin paving North Mississippi Avenue and with plans being laid for paving South Townsend and possibly South Broadway, indications are that Ada will be a paved city before many more summers have come and gone. Then add to this paving the graveling of streets in many parts of the city, and we shall begin to feel we have some streets as well as other conveniences.

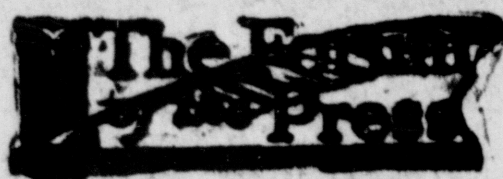

More and more it becomes evident that a turnover nationally next year will be even greater than the one last year. From every section of the country come unmistakable evidences that the republicans are failing to please the voters. The American Legion did not hesitate to criticize the administration for not carrying out the promises to the soldiers. In fact, there is general dissatisfaction.

A new leader has been chosen in the place of George H. White as chairman of the national committee of the democratic party. This time the honor has gone to a southerner, Congressman Cordell Hull, of Carthage, Tenn. All forces united on Hull, and any differences that might have existed are no more.

The mills of the gods grind slow but exceedingly fine. After a delay of more than three years, A. C. Townley has begun serving a sentence for the violation of the sedition act. It is something of a coincidence that Townley must go to jail immediately after his non-partisan league has been defeated by the awakened people of North Dakota.

Another strike is threatened, this time a coal strike. If it is not one strike, it is generally two to bother with. We rise to move that the word "strike" be stricken from the language for a period of twelve months in order that we may have a bit of rest. Do we hear a second?

We believe Cordell Hull will make an able leader. The time has come, too, when a leader's being from the South does not lessen his influence. The campaign will be on in a few weeks now, and it will be a merry chase.

How Men Are Law Breakers.

(Muskogee Phoenix)
The tale of federal prohibition is one that explains why the people of the country as a whole have so little reverence for the law. This story is, indeed, the most discreditable in our history. As we go afield throughout the country we find it more disgraceful than at home. And the reflex effect of it is felt wherever law and order attempt to reassert themselves.

National prohibition would have come about in the normal way, if it had been left to itself, just as prohibition carried one state after another. The unwise policy was adopted of forcing it on communities that were not ready for it. And it was clear that this could not be done without severe repressive measures.

After the mistaken American fashion, the opponents of the system started not to repeal, but to nullify it. Local authorities in many states were openly hostile or obstinately supine. The liquor power, so many years supreme in our political life, got busy. It pushed illicit sales to the limit. And it exerted that enormous pressure which it has at command to procure the practical nullification of the law.

This has now come about. The amazing ruling was made by a former United States attorney general that beer might be prescribed as a medicine by any physician. Its application was held up in order that congress might have opportunity to cure the defect in the law. Then the brewers put the screws on congress and prevented amendment. Suddenly the new rules are promulgated; and as if to emphasize their absolute absurdity, it is permitted to prescribe beer by the case to heal the ill of a single individual.

Every American citizen, regardless of his views on prohibition, ought to rise in his wrath against this craven and dishonest subversion to the liquor power. If prohibition is a mistake, we ought to get rid of it. If it is a wise and practicable policy, we ought to enforce it. But to make the law and the power of government stultify themselves as is the case is to create anarchists faster than any reddest radical can do. It puts political corruption and the gunman in the saddle.

Buy in Oklahoma.

(Daily Oklahoman)
State pride has always been a strong force in support of the movement to "buy in your own state." All citizens should be interested in the building of the state in which they reside, and a majority of them are. However, quite a number send outside of the state for things which they need. This, too, in spite of the fact they can get what they want in Oklahoma. They probably have not thought of this out-of-the-state purchasing in the light of its effect upon the progress of their own community.

Suppose that everyone should send to some other state for all articles which they need, except food and medicine. The community where these people lived would be a dead one. There would be no business houses, except grocery stores and drug stores.

People must buy in their own community in order to enable business enterprises to thrive there and provide jobs for themselves.

It is unlikely that there would be an entire community with so little community spirit as to purchase all of their needed articles, except food and medicine, in some other state. But even when there are a few persons who do patronize out-of-the-state concerns, business houses in the communities where these persons live are not so prosperous.

These things are especially worthy of consideration at this time, when there are a number of unemployed men in Oklahoma.

If the money which goes out of the state for the purchase of needed articles should all be spent with Oklahoma concerns, the latter would be in a much better position to expand and employ more persons. And the increased prosperity of the business houses and the restored buying power of the unemployed persons who secured positions as a result of the buy-in-Oklahoma plan, would increase the general prosperity of the state.

MEMORIAL TO BE HONOR MONUMENT

Gateway To Be Dedicated Saturday To Service of Normal Men.

One of the most important events of the local school year will be the dedication Saturday of the Memorial Gateway at East Central State Teacher's college, honoring college students who were in government service during the world war. Services on the Normal campus Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, according to an announcement from the president's office today. This ceremony will be an open air event, with Joseph Daniels, former secretary of the navy, as the principal speaker.

The Memorial is complete except for a small amount of finishing work to be done this week. The structure consists of two large posts six feet square, standing on either side of the main walk entrance, and four smaller posts of two feet dimensions, on either side of the driveway. The gateway is made of cut stone and each of the larger posts bears an inscription. Four posts are erected on either side of the driveway, giving a finishing touch to the structure.

A program for this occasion as announced will be simple and brief. Patriotic music will be furnished by musical organizations of the Normal school and patriotic addresses will be delivered by Mr. Daniels and Dr. J. M. Gordon, Dr. Gordon, president of the Tulsa University and former president of the Normal, is given most of the credit for the erection of the memorial. It was during his administration that the campaign for funds was inaugurated.

Dr. A. Linscheid of the Normal will act as chairman of the event. He is also accredited with putting over final steps of erecting the memorial. Local clubs also assisted in promoting the project and people over the entire district made it possible for the memorial to be built by their support. A large audience is expected and an invitation to people from over the entire state is extended.

The gateway is the culmination of plans that were laid early in 1919. The committee that had charge of building the gateway was composed of F. L. Stewart, Okmulgee; H. C. East, Shawnee; A. B. Herring, Wynnewood and local men as follows: W. C. Duncan, R. W. Simpson, J. B. Sledge, A. Linscheid, and E. C. Wilson.

In The Oil Fields

Increasing Interest. That the Ada oil fields are becoming increasingly interesting to the oil men of the Southwest is evident from day to day. They are gradually dropping into the city from Tulsa, from Oklahoma City, from Wichita Falls, from Abilene, from Healdton, from other fields where production has begun to slump.

Another thing is evident to one who notices the interest and that is several more wells are to be drilled. Regardless of what the Nance well and Carter offset show in production, other wells will go down. The Bebee sand, many believe, is a big payer somewhere in the immediate territory of the discovered well. Just what direction the sand may go has not been determined as yet.

Big Building Firm Coming. James Crawford and E. A. Chapman, rig builders of Healdton, were in the city today and expect to open an office within a short time. They say the outlook is favorable indeed and they may move their entire equipment to this county.

BOLL WEEVILS DON'T LAY EGGS IN STALKS

That boll weevils do not lay eggs in cotton stalks which may lie dormant for some time is the information given out by J. B. Hill, county agent. The eggs are laid only in the squares of cotton, generally speaking, Mr. Hill says, although the insect itself harbors in cotton stalks or other places where it will be protected from the weather.

A few days ago a farmer brought Mr. Hill a cotton stalk which had been punctured and eggs deposited. To make sure what this insect had deposited the eggs, Mr. Hill sent the stalk to C. E. Sanborn, state entomologist, and below is Mr. Sanborn's reply:

"The cotton stalks sent to me for attention.

"The eggs which have been deposited in these stalks are the eggs of an insect belonging to the grasshopper family. The bug is commonly known as the showy tree cricket and technically known as Oecanthus niveus. There is only one crop of these per year. They pass the winter in all kinds of weed stalks as well as cotton stalks. They seem to do no injury except to the canes of raspberry and blackberry plants. The egg unites sometimes cause the plants to become malformed and unable to function properly."

Frederick.—Warning that Frederick city schools must have more room and fewer pupils to the teacher was issued here to Superintendent J. O. Shay by C. H. Howell, state high school inspector.

IN SOLE

Mrs. H. C. Thompson has just returned from a three months trip to California, taking in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Oakland. At Oakland she spent most of the time with her daughter Mrs. Burton Witherspoon. While there she met Mrs. Truett, a former resident of Ada, also Willie Tom Truett, who is now married. At San Diego she met the Tobias family, former residents of Ada. She says the Grand Canyon was the most wonderful sight she saw on the trip.

Honoring R. H. Wilson. The men of the faculty of the East Central Teachers' College are to give a dinner this evening in honor of Hon. R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of public instruction and candidate for governor. In addition to the members of the faculty, several other friends of Mr. Wilson have been invited.

Hiss Francis Case is spending a few days in Oklahoma City the guest of friends. She expects to be in Norman Saturday night to attend a dance being given by the Sigma Nu fraternity of which her cousin is a member.

BANKS TAKE HEART ON FEDERAL RESERVE ACTION

(By the Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Sentiment in financial circles was perceptibly heartened by the lowering of rediscount rates announced by a majority of the federal reserve banks and concurrent action of the Bank of England.

Special interest was attached to the fact that the reserve bank's attitude on grain and cotton loans was freer than ever before.

Gideons now number more than 4,000 and have placed nearly a million Bibles in hotel rooms.

NORMAL SHOWING MARKED ADVANCE

Close of First Term Finds East Central Far Ahead of Old Marks.

Closing days of the fall term of East Central Normal find it in the most flourishing condition in its history, according to a statement of officials Thursday. The total enrollment is 653 which is 150 more than at the same date last year. This easily puts East Central second among the six state normals and crowds Edmond closely for first. Besides this number there are 120 in the training school, which is the extreme limit permitted. The summer term enrollment was 1120, by far the largest on record, and indications already point to 1,500 for next summer.

With the close of the fall term several teachers will drop out to begin their work in various districts in this and surrounding counties, but others who have been teaching are expected to enroll for the winter term.

250 in Correspondence. Besides those enrolled for regular work 250 are taking correspondence courses and 125 others are enrolled in extension groups which are organized for work in various courses and hold regular meetings. This signifies a rapidly growing interest in this department.

From personal observation and reports from various sources it is apparent that perfect harmony prevails throughout the school and to this fact may be attributed much of the success attending the efforts of the faculty, it is said.

A department of comparatively recent organization is that of rural education of which Prof. Nelson is head. Any school in the district or eleven counties can secure his services free. He has just completed a survey of rural schools of Okmulgee county. Through his department rural schools can be benefitted and also kept in close touch with the normal.

The library has received attention from the first and now has between 8,000 and 9,000 volumes on its shelves, besides files of all the leading periodicals so indexed as to be easily accessible. The students make full use of opportunities afforded by the library and the librarian's position is far from being a sinecure. It is stated that the library at Edmond is the only one of the six that is equal to that of East Central.

Drawing is Popular. Great interest is being manifested this year in mechanical drawing, which is conducted as part of the department of manual training. Students in the manual training work are turning out almost any kind of useful article that could be imagined.

The domestic science department has always been full and this year so many are enrolled that it has been necessary to organize extra time classes in order to meet demands of the student body. Cooking and sewing are popular subjects.

There was general regret when Prof. B. A. Pratt, who brought the department of agriculture up to its present standard, resigned to accept work with the A. and M. College, but Prof. McCormick, his successor, is proving himself a good successor and in making the work practical and instructive. Besides laboratory work the students will be assigned individual plots of ground in the spring and here they will put their knowledge to test.

School is Thorough. The underlying principle of instruction in the school is the spirit of thoroughness and freedom from fads and hobbies. Thoroughness has never been sacrificed for the sake of numbers and as a result East Central graduates have always been in demand among school boards of Oklahoma. The school is still young in years but it has made its influence felt in the educational system of Oklahoma.

In the early days of the normal the grounds were laid out under a careful plan and the trees and shrubs that are planted are now attaining their growth. As a result this campus is declared to be among the beautiful in the state. It is well kept with a splendid lawn. The grounds are indeed a spot of beauty and the pride of both the school and the city.

DANIELS SPEAKS IN SHAWNEE AND LEAVES FOR ADA

R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of schools, was due to arrive in the city late this afternoon or tonight and Former Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels Friday morning to participate in the annual meeting of the East Central Educational association.

Mr. Daniels will speak in Shawnee tonight on "The Forts of Folly," the subjects he is to discuss here, and is appearing there under the auspices of the Oklahoma Baptist Lyceum course. A delegation of American Legion men, in full uniform, met the former navy secretary in Shawnee this morning. It is reported, and escorted him to the Norwood hotel. He appeared at a special assembly of the Oklahoma Baptist University this morning, after which he was taken for a brief ride about the city.

At noon the Lions club of Shawnee had Mr. Daniels as its special guest at a luncheon at noon Thursday and this afternoon the ex-secretary met many democratic leaders of Pottawatomie county and chatted freely in the lobby of the hotel where he was staying. He is to be the guest tonight of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Spaulding. Mr. Spaulding is publisher of the Shawnee Morning News and an old friend of Mr. Daniels.

THE ARM CHAIR.

"I can't help thinking," said the Arm Chair, "that people are very lazy. I could write a verse about it and my verse would be like this:

"Folks are very lazy, the old arm chair thinks so. They're always resting, always sitting, and never want to go.

They say how tired they're feeling and they lean against me too. I should really think they'd sometimes have something else to do."

"But they do a great deal else," said the Desk Chair. "When they sit upon me they are always working. They're writing letters or paying bills or doing lessons or something or other. When they sit back in you they aren't supposed to be working. They are supposed to be resting."

"It seems to me they do a great deal of it," said the Arm Chair.

"I think people are lazy too," said the Couch. "I really agree with the Arm Chair. 'People are always lolling about. They are always resting.'"

"I agree with the Desk Chair," said the Straight Back Chair by the table. "People come in turn and sit upon me and they are always working here at the table in some way or other."

"Of course," said the Table, "they're always working. They have their sewing, their mending, their lessons, their work to do. Sometimes they read, of course, and while reading isn't work, it isn't laziness."

"It's something very pleasant to do, very pleasant indeed! But they're not lazy."

"I don't think they're lazy, either," said the Table Lamp. "I am lighted every evening and people gather about me and they are all doing different things and they're not lazy at all."

"I don't think they're lazy," said the Pen Holder.

"Neither do I," said the Pencil. "I don't think so at all."

"I think they're lazy," said a Sofa Cushion.

"So do I," said another Sofa Cushion. "I most certainly think they are!"

"I agree with the Arm Chair," said a Footstool. "I think people are lazy." "You are all talking very absurdly," said a little Brownie who came into the room.

"Some of you think the people are lazy and some of you don't. But none of you seem to realize that when the people are resting they are resting after work which they have done, and that they must rest too.

"And So Are You."

"It doesn't mean that people are lazy because they like you, Arm Chair."

"It doesn't mean that they are lazy because they like you, Couch."

"It doesn't mean that they are lazy because they like either of you two Sofa Cushions."

"It doesn't mean that they are lazy because of any of you. They like to have you help them rest, that is all."

"So you mustn't start talking in this way, for it's not right at all."

"The Fire-Place doesn't think people are lazy because on the cool days they gather about the Fire-Place."

"That shows that the Fire-Place has good sense."

"The Fire likes to burn brightly for the people and allows the Fire Fairies to come and play in it and have their games and their frolics and their good times and the people can watch the fairies playing."

"The people don't know just what the fairies are doing, and whether the Blue Flame Fairies are giving the ball for the Red Flame Fairies or whether it is the other way around, but they know that they're having a good time and that the Fire and the Fire-Place is glad to give them a good time and have them enjoy themselves."

"You're getting to be a regular old gossip, Couch. And so are you two Sofa Cushions. And so are you, Arm Chair. You are trying to make out that people are lazy just because you want to talk and because you've never done anything at all in your furniture lives and are spending your time idly talking about people."

"You're not supposed to do anything hard, but do not give way to the bad habit of talking about people simply because you have nothing to do. If you do that, the Brownies will have to come and change you into Kitchen Stoves and Radiators so you will have to do some real work."

"I'm sorry," said the Arm Chair. "I really wasn't nice at all, for I started the whole talk."

NANCE OIL WELL SHOWING BETTER

Tubing To Be In Place By Night and Test Made Before Last of Week.

The Nance oil well in section 4-4-g, near the inland town of Bebee, has recently made several flows, shooting oil over the top of the derrick and filling the streams thereabout with the green liquid fluid, which represents gold. The tubing was going into the well today, and was expected to be set before night. If the oil does not flow naturally when this tubing is in place, it is expected that pumps will be put to work. Before Sunday, the News expects to be able to give the production.

The Carter-Lowry offset well in the same section as the Nance is having trouble as a result of the shot. Just how long it will take to clean out the hole, could not be learned. All those interested in the well were in the field this afternoon, indications are now, it is reported, that this will be a good pay well.

The Nance well at this time is attracting the most attention of any in the county, on account of the fact that it is getting oil in a new formation. It is in what is generally known as the Hunton lime, which was picked up at 2300 feet and continued for more than one hundred feet. The operators stopped before they reached the bottom of this time, and it is not known actually how deep this oil bearing formation is.

The Transcontinental well, near Maxwell, is underdrilling. The hole is approximately 2850 feet, with the formation favorable, according to reports.

Oklahoma City.—Nat Goodwin, 19, was arrested Monday, county officers were searching for two other boys, and a $4000 National car was returned to the owner, Abe Herskowitz, following an unusual bit of detective work by R. C. Pamplin, special investigator, Sunday.

Ada High School Is Member Oklahoma League of Debaters

Ada High school is a member of District 6, Oklahoma High School Debating league, according to a schedule of districts given out today from headquarters at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, by Anniece Moussa, secretary of the league.

Other members of this district, of which the principal of Lindsay high school is director, are Lindsay, Bromide, Francis, Marietta, Healdton, Dougherty, Norman, McLoud, Lexington, Tecumseh, Seminole, Wapaw, Nucka, Stratford, Wynnewood, Wilson, Wayne, and Tishomingo.

The state is divided into eight districts which will compete for a silver loving cups to be presented at the end of the debating season by the Oklahoma Employers' association to winners of each district. A special cup will be awarded the winner of the state championship, according to Harry V. Kahle, secretary of the association.

The question for discussion in the debating league this year is the open shop and, besides offering the cups to the winners, the employers' association is distributing debate material to all the high schools. The University of Oklahoma is likewise publishing and distributing material on both sides of the question, so that the high school debaters will have sufficient material from which to select information. About 125 state high schools have enrolled in the league, according to Moussa.

Colbert Items. Brother Higgins preached here Sunday and Sunday night. Marie Chestnut who has been sick for the past two weeks is some improved at present. Bro. Morris closed the revival Monday night. There were four conversions. Robert Smith and family of Byng visited at Colbert Sunday. Mrs. Joe Bezemore was called Monday night to be with her brother who is in a very serious condition.

Miss Flora Covention of Ada visited friends here Sunday.

School is moving nicely with a large attendance. Twelve new desks have been put in the intermediate room. Miss Grace Hyder is the teacher. She has fifty on roll and an average of forty-four attendance.

The school is getting ready to give a nice Christmas program.

SI TEAMS FOR CITY LEAGUE NOW CERTAIN

Interest in a city basketball league is growing, and it is expected that plans for a schedule will be made within a few days. A meeting was to have been held this week, but the Teachers' association interfered and the matter had to be postponed for a few days. At least six teams seem certain. The Normal will probably furnish a team, the high school one, the Ada News one, the Cement company one, the clerks one, and others can be recruited with little effort.

Moundsville, W. Va.—"I had taken doctor's medicine for nearly two years because my periods were irregular, came every two weeks, and I would suffer with bearing-down pains. A lady told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how much good it had done her daughter, so I took it and now I am regular every month and have no pain at all. I recommend your medicine to everyone and you may publish my testimonial, hoping that the Vegetable Compound does some other girl the good it has done me."—Mrs. GEORGE TEGARDEN, 915 Third Street, Moundsville, W. Va.

How many young girls suffer as Mrs. Tegen did and do not know where to turn for advice or help. They often are obliged to earn their living by toiling day in and day out no matter how hard the pain they have to bear. Every girl who suffers in this way should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if she does not get prompt relief write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, about her health. Such letters are held in strict confidence.

Collection of Old Documents Contains Papers Dating From Time of Ancient Roman Sages

(By the Associated Press) ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 3.—What is described as one of the most important collections of ancient documents yet discovered, consisting of more than 100 legal papers dating from the reigns of the Roman emperors Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula and Claudius, has been brought here by Professor Francis W. Kelsey of the University of Michigan. Professor Kelsey spent some time in Egypt in search of records. The collection is held to be important because it reveals the life of the people during the early Christian era.

The records obtained by Professor Kelsey constitute a part of the files of a record office in or near Plebunus, Egypt and were discovered four months ago. They are written on papyrus and are chiefly in Greek, a few being Demotic. They are believed to have been covered with sand soon after the record office fell and with few exceptions are preserved in perfect condition.

The earliest record is dated 7 A. D. and bears the signature of a woman who agreed not to bring claim against her brothers. Another record, of the same period, is a contract of common law marriage. Among the other records are contracts of sale covering both personal and real property, including lands, vineyards and houses. There also are leases, agreements regarding loans, a contract of indemnity.

11 YEAR OLD TRAMP IS CURED OF WANDERLUST

(By the Associated Press) OKMULGEE, Nov. 3.—Jimmie Ramsey's itching foot has been cured, he says. Jimmie is an 11-year old tramp who was until a week ago when B. E. Smith an oil driller found him huddled up in a box car and took him home to stay. Jimmie told him how he left Mississippi about a month ago, being left homeless by the death of a mother, father and aunt; of his "riding the rods" to Oklahoma and being stranded here with no money. Smith says he will adopt Jimmie, and try to convince him a home is the best cure for the "itching foot."—wanderlust.

receipts for wages, a receipt for dowry, official orders, petitions to public officials, tax receipts, documents relating to transferring ownership of slaves and part of a registry of deeds.

Mentioned in Bible. What is held to be the most important record is in the form of a roll, more than seven feet long and written on both sides. It is said to be a perfect example of the ancient book or scroll of the kind mentioned in the Bible, particularly in the Book of Revelations. The scroll, dated 42 A. D. contains on one side abstracts of a number of contracts and on the other is a registry of the contracts written in the record office of the second year of Emperor Claudius.

Between ten and fifteen years will be required to decipher all of the records and to explain them in their relation to Roman history, according to Professor Kelsey. The university professor declared there could be no question as to the authenticity of the records.

Another collection brought to the University by the Professor includes a papyrus book of 12 leaves in which are written the incantations and formulas used by a master magician. There are charms and curses for various occasions, one being a love charm. In the prayers God and the angels are invoked as well as the pagan deities of Egypt.

ALL GUARD UNITS MAY BE SURVEYED

Local and Military Men To Confer on Program of State Reserve.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 3.—Complete plans for preparation of the Oklahoma National Guard have been issued at the office of Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett here, calling for an immediate survey of the entire military and civil situation by all commands.

Efficiency and co-operation with civil authorities in event the guard is called out must be consummated and the results reported to the headquarters office. When approved, they will become a permanent part of the National Guard Instruction, the general announced.

The senior officer at each station is charged with the preparation of these plans, he stated, and he will detail all assistants from members of the National Guard at his station, as he deems necessary.

Confidential plans are to be laid between the proper military authorities and the representatives of local civil government—that is, the judges, mayor, sheriff, police, department, and public service companies, public utilities and transportation companies, large agencies of food, fuel and clothing, military societies, commercial bodies and other civic organizations are to be called into conference.

This conference is to be held under direction of the mayor, and should perfect an organization, the plan authorized at headquarters states, of dependable and clearly defined tasks and duties to care for all these public service interests in an emergency arises.

"When called into action," Adjutant General Barrett said, "it is the function of the military to establish as quickly as possible, normal conditions and this with the least possible bloodshed and the least possible exertion of the powerful forces of the state, but the return to normal must be prompt."

DADY TAE DAIRY

SCHOOL GIRL SHOWS ABILITY

Makes Good With Small Herd of Cows and Is Successful With Chickens and Hogs.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Elizabeth Farley is a seventeen-year-old club girl, a senior in the high school at Amherst, Mass. About four years ago, after experimenting with the 4-H garden and poultry clubs of the United States Department of Agriculture for several years, she decided to purchase a cow. Her father attempted to discourage her, saying that she had no knowledge of milking and no place to house an animal. Her father went away for a week-end trip, however, and when he returned he found that Elizabeth was the owner of a registered Jersey cow which she had learned to milk, and for which she had rented a stall in a neighbor's barn. Profits from previous poultry work supplied the funds for this venture.

Elizabeth remained in club work and because of the demand for milk purchased other registered cows and calves. For two years the cattle had to be staked out every day in a pasture 10 minutes' walk from the house, and as the pasture brook dried up she had also to carry water to them. One cow nearly died of sickness. Until a year ago Elizabeth did all her own work, including delivering the milk.

Her next live-stock venture was a bred registered Chester-White sow. This sow had a litter of 13 pigs, 10 of which lived, although the sow became sick and died later. When Elizabeth purchased 200 day-old chicks. As they grew she sold the cockerels and some of the pullets, reserving the others for winter laying. A year ago she found that she needed pigs.

ture and hay land so she bought 12 acres of land, for which the cows are paying.

At the present time this high-school girl has nine purebred Jersey cows and four calves valued by specialists in the Agricultural college at $3,000. She hires two boys to help care for the herd and milk the cows. She delivers 80 quarts of milk daily in an old milk wagon which she bought this summer for $5 and repaired herself. She grows her own feed on her own land.

In addition to her dairy herd she has a large flock of chickens, a number of purebred pigs, and a horse. Her entire indebtedness is one note for $300. Elizabeth is planning to go to the Massachusetts Agricultural college as soon as she has finished high school.

TROUBLE WITH POOR SILAGE

Melody Condition Not Due to Lack of Moisture.

Many farmers have trouble with moldy silage. Now, moldy silage is usually not the result of leaky silos, although air leaks in the silo will bring about mold. Practically all silos that are put up nowadays are air-tight; but moldy silage is frequently found in air-tight silos. Whenever mold is found in silage one may be almost certain that there was a lack of moisture when it was put in. When the stalks are somewhat dry it is impossible in packing and in settling the silage to get rid of all the air, which must be forced out if mold is to be prevented.

CLEANLINESS IS IMPORTANT

Utensils Must Be Kept Clean by Sterilizing, Not Simply Washed to Remove Impurities.

Cleanliness is godliness, especially in the dairy business. All the sanitary precautions taken for housing the dairy herd will be of no avail, if the utensils used in handling the milk are not kept clean. To be sure such utensils are clean, they must be sterilized, not simply washed to remove impurities that may be seen.

RATE CASE BEARS ON OKLAHOMA OIL

Rail Executives Meeting at St. Louis Today To Talk Shipping.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6.—Railroad executives are scheduled to meet today at St. Louis to discuss freight rates on petroleum and other commodities with the possibility of a decision which will affect Oklahoma's oil production materially, according to members of the state corporation commission.

Testimony was taken before the commission last week tending to show that about 45 percent of the state's oil refineries are not producing with many attempts to place the blame on freight rates in the state which officials of the Western Petroleum Refiners' association stated was the entire cause for lack of production in the petroleum refineries, and the general stagnation in that business.

When oil began to deplete in value in the state, the Indians began to lose money in royalties, but were taxed at full production when they paid their income taxes. Now since no allowance was made for possible depletion, the civilized tribes have applied for a refund which may amount to from $500,000 to $1,000,000 according to Gabe Parker, superintendent of the Five Civilized Tribes.

Refineries Idle. Clifford Thorne, rate expert from Chicago, representing the independent refiners when the corporation commission heard the petition for revision of the intrastate freight rate schedules last week, stated that more than fifty percent of the state's refineries were idle.

Citing conditions in other states to prove that this should not be the case, H. G. James of Kansas City, Mo., stated that with 123 oil refineries in the state, only 67 are running, while 52 out of 60 refineries in Pennsylvania now are running.

Rate comparisons were offered purporting to show that rates in petroleum and its products in Oklahoma are higher than those in Kansas for corresponding differences in destination.

The railroads offered no additional testimony to that presented when the rates were granted by the commission, when they made a showing that their earnings had been considerably depleted, and that they were not, according to the commission's order, making a fair return on their investment.

No order is to be issued by the commission until after the meeting of railroad executives at St. Louis.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR.

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes glossy and dark and appears glossy and lustrous. TULSA MAY VOTE ON SECOND BOND ISSUE ON WATER

(By the Associated Press) TULSA, Nov. 3.—Two years ago Tulsa voted $5,000,000 worth of water bonds to build a dam on Spavinaw creek and the aqueduct from the dam to Tulsa, to bring water to this city. The bonds were disproved by the attorney general on account of a city charter provision making it impossible for the city of Tulsa to own property located more than five miles from the city limits. Now that defect has been remedied by a charter amendment.

November 29 has been set as the date for another Spavinaw bond election. This time the amount of the bonds to be voted on is $6,800,000. The first survey to the Spavinaw has just been completed, under the direction of J. D. Trammell, consulting engineer, who built Lake Worth at Fort Worth, Texas, and W. R. Holway, local engineer. Their report states that the Spavinaw water can be brought 54 1/4 miles from that stream and taken to the village of Mohawk, 2 1/2 miles from Tulsa, by gravity. Present plans call for the building of a 48 inch concrete pipeline from Spavinaw creek to Mohawk capable of delivering 25,000,000 gallons of water here daily. The water will be pumped from Mohawk into the Tulsa mains.

The city plans to sell the surplus water not needed here to towns along the pipeline. Tulsa's present need is about 8,000,000 gallons daily maximum, according to the water department. A city park and bathing beach probably will be built at Mohawk from the surplus water not used here and not sold to other cities. The officials expect to have the contracts let by March 15, and the project completed in a maximum of two years, from that date, providing the bonds are voted.

CAR IS DAMAGED WHEN GASOLINE IS IGNITED Considerable damage to tires and paint on a car belonging to Billie Bryant was done this morning when a fire started from a leaky gas tank. The blaze was extinguished before much damage was done, and the car will be repaired. Fire Chief Jones said that a leak was sprung in the gas tank when another car ran into it and that a passer-by carelessly threw down a lighted match which ignited the gas.

STRIKING MILK WAGON DRIVERS ARE RESTRAINED (By the Associated Press) CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—Municipal Judge Morris C. Bernon this morning granted a temporary injunction restraining striking milk wagon drivers from interfering in any way with the delivery of milk here after several outbreaks of violence had marked the starting of the second day of the strike of 800 milk wagon drivers.

PAGEANT TO OBSERVE HISTORY OF OKLAHOMA (By the Associated Press) SAPULPA, Nov. 3.—The greatest pageant ever staged in the history of Oklahoma is being planned in this city for November 9, 10 and 11. A total of 4,100 men, women and children will participate.

The pageant is to depict the history of Oklahoma from its occupancy by the Red Men to the present time. The coming of the man into the country, the "runs" the wild days when "gun men" ruled the highways, the discovery of oil and the growth of the little villages into the cities all will be portrayed. Each of the three days has been designed to one district beginning with the Oklahoma district, the Tulsa district coming next, and the south and west on the third day.

FIGHT FOR SALES TAX IS LAUNCHED THURSDAY (By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The fight for the sales tax was launched today in the senate by Senator Smoot, republican of Utah, after the tax revision measure had been perfected with committee and individual amendments disposed of. Promoters of the sales tax levy said they went into the fight with forty votes in favor of their plan.

Wheat at $1 Bushel. CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—What long ago used to be considered normalcy was reached today on the Chicago board of trade—wheat at $1 a bushel. The market today fell to that price, the lowest since 1915. Absence of demand rather than selling pressure characterized the market today.

RIGA, Nov. 3.—Children are living in woods and fields like young animals in some parts of the famine stricken district of Saratov, says an official wireless dispatch from Moscow. They are little waifs who have fled from famine stricken cities and villages and exist on roots and grass. When adults approach they flee, showing every evidence of fear. Overcrowding of children has been carried so far in the Syran and Ufa district that some of the institutions are sheltering four times as many children as they have accommodations for. In these places the children take turns in occupying such beds as are available, one small famine victim crawling into a bed as soon as another vacates it.

Entire families are reported to die and cases are reported of parents strangling their children rather than see them die of starvation," says the dispatch, which also gives the first reports of disorderly migration. "Over the road in the R. R. B. T. district in Mocco a band of disorderly refugees are fleeing from starving Volga."

ACTION OUTLINED ON OZARK TRAILS

Ada Advised by President of Highway How To Go On With Plans.

A letter has been received from the president of the Ozark Trails association concerning the proposed branch of the Ozark trail through this section of the country, running from Stratford, Okla., to Texarkana, by officers of the Good Roads Motor Club and the Chamber of Commerce. The letter outlines work which the cities and towns along the proposed route will be expected to do in case steps are taken to get the branch road.

In the work outlined, J. E. Swepston, president of the organization, of Tulsa, Texas, recommends that the thirteen cities and villages along the proposed route call a meeting at some central point, at which representatives of the towns are to be present. At this meeting he recommends that a president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer be elected and a branch organization expected.

After officers are elected from the entire route, he recommends that county organizations along the route be formed, sub-organized by city and village organizations, thus dividing the work of promoting the project in sections and assuring the entire route of minute consideration. Officers for these minor organizations would be required to look after the business in his section, transmitting it to the general organization, thus eliminating much "red tape" and making it possible for the particular section to get immediate service from its own office.

May Erect Pyramids.

He also proposes that in case the project is carried out that all the principal cities, of which he names thirteen, put on drives for funds for the erecting of pyramids between all points thus making the road a well marked one over its entire length. He estimates the total financial need of the organization for such a route as proposed to be $6500, and points out the manner in which it is to be spent. Each city is to be given a quota of this total amount. This will defray incidental expenses, such as the erection of pyramids.

The road will be well marked, under his plan, and the sectional organization officials will be entrusted with the duty of seeing that proper attention is shown the road as to getting it worked, bridges built where needed, and bad stretches of road repaired. This will make the route passable from Texarkana to Stratford, where it will connect with other highways.

HIGH SCHOOL MEN TO MEET AGGIES HERE TOMORROW

There is great rejoicing in the football camp of Ada High school today. Coach C. R. Cox has announced that the team will meet the Tishomingo Aggies on the Normal gridiron Friday afternoon. The Aggie team was to have played the Normal squad if the latter's schedule had not been canceled. Coach Cox is today giving his men some instructions in what they will be expected to do in meeting their first college team.

Ada high school is in the swim for state championship now, taking long strokes towards the goal.

3. "The proper constituents of a successful reading lesson," R. R. Robinson, East Central State Teachers' College, Ada.
4. "Project teaching in the grades," Miss Nellie Cooper, Shawnee.
5. Address, President T. W. Butcher, Kansas State Normal, Emporia, Kansas.

which more than a hundred high school elevens looked to with long eyes at the opening of the season. Eliminations for the title have come fast and furious as the season advances, until now there are only about 12 schools in the race. Support of the city is needed to help boost the local team over the top, according to high school officials.

Wilburton forfeited to Ada in the game for this week, thus putting the home team a step nearer the coveted prize. The Aggies will be a hard team as some experienced college men are on the line-up. The Ada eleven is in fine shape and except for a few set backs during the past week Cox's men are in good spirits. Tomorrow promises to be an excellent day for the game and much interest is being shown as the word is passed around.

Okmulgee enters the field against Ada next week. Ada plays that game away from home, with the one following on November 24 played at Ada against Shawnee high. The schedule for the remainder of the season is good.

This week's game will be called on the Normal gridiron Friday afternoon at 3:30.

What is a suit of clothes?

Sounds foolish—it isn't. Some men think that a suit means simply a coat, vest and pair of trousers; they buy that way; pay as little as possible and get it.

But others know more and get more—a suit of clothes means months of service to them; style that keeps looking well; careful tailoring. They find those things in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes; they save money.
